Generating Search Terms For Your Research

<http://legalresearch.org/essentials/process/use-finding-tools/words-and-phrases-research/>

Some law firms provide basic information on their websites – a few provide significant and useful outlines in the areas of law that they practice. If there are larger law firms in your province which offer services in the area of law that you are concerned with (eg family, employment, immigration) you may find that their website offers some information about the structure of law in that area that you can use as a starting point.

Family Law Information Sessions (weekly in Regina) (monthly in Saskatoon)

The Saskatchewan Ministry of Justice, in partnership with the Public Legal Education Association (PLEA), Pro Bono Law of Saskatchewan (PBLs), Law Society Library, and the Saskatoon Public Library, have set up regular weekly drop-in help sessions at the Law Society Library at the Regina Court of Queen's Bench, and monthly drop-in help sessions at the Saskatoon Public Library and Saskatoon Court of Queen's Bench. Lawyers will provide free help sessions to assist SRLs with general legal information and assistance, including form preparation using the PLEA Family Law Website.

Further information can be obtained by contacting the Family Law Information Centre at 1-888-218-2822 (extension 2)

Family Matters

Family Matters assists families going through separation or divorce by providing access to:

- Information and resources to deal with a changing family situation.
- Assistance to resolve urgent and outstanding issues.

The program aims to minimize the impact of separation and divorce on all family members – especially children and provides early intervention/resolution for people, and is a great resource for self-reps.

The program offers a free three-hour meeting between separating/divorcing parties (even before an action is started) and a Family Matters service provider to try to come to some solutions, and connect people with resources as needed.
