Litigation Assistance for SRLs

Generating Search Terms for Your Research

Here is a helpful list of tips from Can LII.

<https://commentary.canlii.org/w/canlii/2018CanLIIDocs161#!fragment/zoupio-Toc528757981/BQCwhgziBcwMYgK4DsDWszlQewE4BUBTADwBdoAvbRABwEtsBaAfX2zgFYAmADgHYOfAJw8AjAEoANMmylCEAIqJCuAJ7QA5BskRCYXaiUr1WnXoMgAynlIAhdQCUAogBknANQCCAQQDCTyVIwACNoUnZxcSA>

Some law firms provide basic information on their websites – a few provide significant and useful outlines in the areas of law that they practice. If there are larger law firms in your province offering services in the area of law that you are concerned with (e.g. family, employment, immigration) you may find that their websites offer some information about the structure of law in that area that you can use as a starting point.

Pro Bono Students Canada

<http://www.probonostudents.ca>

An award-winning law student program that provides legal services without charge to organizations and individuals in need in Canada. If you live near a university with a law school, check to see if they have a chapter of Pro Bono Students Canada. If yes, they may be able to provide some legal information and support.

Alberta Family Law Information Centres (FLIC) provide free help to individuals about family law matters. FLIC can:

- provide information about the process and documents required to deal with child or spousal support under the Divorce Act, the Family Law Act, or the Interjurisdictional Support Orders Act
- provide general information on parenting, guardianship, custody, access, property division, grandparents' rights, protection orders and common-law rights
- provide how-to booklets with forms and information about court procedures for various court applications without legal representation. There are instructions for maintenance issues such as support orders, variation orders, stays of enforcement and adjusting arrears. Packages are also available about other family law issues including custody, access, time with a child, and restraining or protection orders
- answer questions about child support guidelines related to:
 - - income calculation
 - - calculation of additional expenses
 - - standard of living tests necessary for undue hardship claims
- estimate the amount of child support that might be paid or received under the Child Support Guidelines

FLIC includes the Child Support Resolution Office in Edmonton and the Dispute Resolution Office in Calgary. These offices provide an alternative process for resolving child support disputes.

For additional information, contact the FLIC offices in: Calgary (403-297-6981); Edmonton, (780-415-0404); Grande Prairie (780-833-4234); Lethbridge (403-388-3102); Medicine Hat (403-529-8716); and Red Deer (403-755-1468).

Click Undo

<https://www.undo.ca>

Click Undo is an interactive site designed to give Canadians access to relatively cheap and simple separation options outside of the courtroom. The website takes the forms required for a divorce application and turns them into an easy-to-use web tool. Users of the website are asked to respond to a series of questions and surveys about their income, housing and child custody arrangements. Based on the information provided, the site calculates equalization payments and spousal support estimates and generates official divorce documents. Once you submit your application, Click Undo has one of their lawyers review the application to ensure that it will be filed. They send one round of feedback, flagging anything that might be problematic.

Before a divorce can be filed with the court, you must swear an Affidavit with a Commissioner for Oaths. Their system lets you choose a time and place that works best to meet. They send a Commissioner to you, make sure you sign off on everything correctly, then file it in court.

This service is currently only offered for residents in Alberta and Ontario, but other provinces may be added in the future.

Services Provided by Nova Scotia Legal Aid:

Chat Online with a Lawyer

Legal Aid NS also provides a free online chat: each day has a designated subject. To start a chat session, click on the chat icon on the bottom right-hand corner of NSLA's homepage.

Schedule:

Tuesdays 3pm-5pm: Family Law

Wednesday 3pm-5pm: Social Justice. (Landlord/Tenant issues, Income Assistance, Employment Insurance, CPP Disability ext.)

Legal Clinics

The Office also provides free Legal Clinics around Nova Scotia. Legal Clinics provide seminars and advice around a certain legal topic, for example, "Form Filing". Check the calendar for more information. To access the calendar, scroll down to the bottom of the home page and look for box on the right-hand side that says "Upcoming Events". Click the link "See More".

Court of Appeal Summary Advice

NSLA provides Summary Advice Counsel to dispense summary advice (quick and limited legal advice) at the Court of Appeal. Check the Legal Aid Calendar to see when events take place.

Legal Outreach.

NS Legal Aid provides outreach clinics, where Lawyers go to communities and provide free legal advice on your family law or social justice issue. You can drop in to meet with a Legal Aid lawyer or set an appointment. To see if a Legal Outreach Clinic is happening near you check the Legal Aid Calendar.

Land Title Initiative

NSLA will provide service assisting Nova Scotians to obtain title to their land in the five communities of East Preston, North Preston, Cherry Brook, Lincolnville, and Sunnyville. These five communities, among others, have suffered from historical discrimination that has prevented people from receiving legal title to the land they own. The Province is working with stakeholders, including NSLA, to remove barriers to the clarification of land ownership and address the unequal treatment that African Nova Scotians have faced.

Service provided will include:

- obtaining a Certificate of Title under the Land Titles Clarification Act (LTCA) (which requires migration after issuance of the certificate);
- migration under the Land Registration Act;
- Court-ordered declarations and negotiation between private parties; and
- applications under the Probate Act/Intestate Succession Act.

Applicants for service under this Initiative will not need to meet financial eligibility guidelines. Files will be assessed for merit and the initiative can only provide service in the above five communities. Please contact our Halifax LTI Office @ 902-420-8845 to apply for legal service. You can also apply online @<https://www.nslegalaid.ca/online-application/> or by completing an Application in any Legal Aid Office. Any inquiries can be sent to liti@nslegalaid.ca. Fax number is 902-420-6561. More information on the initiative is available here: <https://novascotia.ca/natr/titles-clarification/>

Nova Scotia Legislature Library Services

<https://nslegislature.ca/about/library-services>

The Nova Scotia Legislature allows members of the public to visit the law library and use the collection during regular daytime hours. Library materials may be borrowed through interlibrary loan, with some exceptions: reference books, legislative materials, and fragile texts may only be used in-house. Loans are for two weeks. Staff assistance to the public may be limited depending on the activities of the House of Assembly.

ReachAbility

<https://www.reachability.org/referrals-1>

reachAbility is a charitable organization that operates a Legal Referral Service for people with disabilities. Through this service, persons with a disability may receive a free one hour session for legal advice from a lawyer who volunteers with reachAbility. The reachAbility lawyer will not represent you for the whole court process. You will have to pay the lawyer after the first free appointment, unless you make special arrangements with the lawyer.

Click Undo

<https://www.undo.ca>

Click Undo is an interactive site designed to give Canadians access to relatively cheap and simple separation options outside of the courtroom. The website takes the forms required for a divorce application and turns them into an easy-to-use web tool. Users of the website are asked to respond to a series of questions and surveys about their income, housing and child custody arrangements. Based on the information provided, the site calculates equalization payments and spousal support estimates and generates official divorce documents. Once you submit your application, Click Undo has one of their lawyers review the application to ensure that it will be filed. They send one round of feedback, flagging anything that might be problematic. Before a divorce can be filed with the court, you must swear an Affidavit with a Commissioner for Oaths. Their system lets you choose a time and place that works best to meet. They send a Commissioner to you, make sure you sign off on everything correctly, then file it in court. This is currently only offered for Residents in Alberta and Ontario, but other provinces may be added in the future.

Yukon Legal Service Society

<http://www.legalaid.yk.ca>

Yukon Legal Services Society (YLSS) is Yukon's legal aid service provider. If you need a lawyer but cannot afford to pay, they may be able to help by providing a lawyer at no cost or at a very low cost to you.

Yukon Public Law Library

<http://www.justice.gov.yk.ca/prog/cs/library.html>

The Yukon Public Law Library has a variety of services. Hours are 9am to 4pm Monday to Friday. The library is staffed with librarians who are there to help you with information and research. Their e-library provides the primer “Yukon Case Law Research Guide”, an online assistant for family law, alternatives to court, small claims, landlord and tenant, and wills and estates. Find these on the left-hand toolbar labeled “Legal Research eLibrary”.

Yukon Public Legal Education Association

<http://yplea.com>

The Yukon Public Legal Education Association (YPLEA) is a non-profit organization devoted to providing legal information to the public and promoting increased access to the legal system. The goal of the Association is to help the public to identify and understand their legal rights and responsibilities in order to improve their ability to deal with legal matters.

YPLEA also operates the Yukon Law Line, a free legal information service. The Law Line is staffed by persons knowledgeable about the law. It is intended to help callers by providing legal information. The Law Line is intended to help callers to identify the legal issues confronting them and to give them information about how to go about resolving those legal issues. The Law Line does not give legal advice or representation and it does not provide legal services such as drafting documents.

Operating Hours

The Law Line hours are as follows:

- Monday: 8:45 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. (Closed for lunch from 12:15 p.m. to 12:45 p.m.)
- Tuesday to Friday: 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. (On Thursday, closed for lunch from 1:00 p.m. to 1:30 p.m.)
